Seminar attendees will discover how to develop a healthy workforce

DENVER – The Colorado Women's Chamber of Commerce will host the educational workshop "Unhealthy Employees Affect the Bottom Line: Find out How to Develop a Healthy Workforce" from 9 to 10:30 a.m. on Nov. 3 at the CWCC offices at 1624 Market St., Suite 340, in Denver, CO.

The workshop is $15 for members, $20 for non-members and walk-ins, and $10 for young professionals. Attendees can register online at www.cwcc.org.

With health care costs rising, employers and employees currently struggle to figure out what to do while the national debate rages on health care reform. One possible solution is wellness programs. According to the workshop presenter, seventy five cents of every dollar spent on health care in the US is spent on treatment of a preventable disease. That total does not count the cost of absenteeism and workers compensation. This presentation will discuss what an employer can do to develop a healthy workforce and improve their bottom line.
