

State of Women in Business: The Breakup Edition

About the State of Women in Business Event

Women are leaving their companies at the highest rate we've seen in history. As we examine women and work post pandemic it's clear women won't return to status quo. This unique event will highlight national and local trends that are driving women to leave their companies. Our experts will also share solutions and strategies to address and remedy barriers that prevent women and non-binary individuals from being promoted to leadership roles, pursue careers in male dominated fields, quietly quit, and other key issues impacting women in business and in work.

It's going to take all of us to get women, and non-binary individuals back to work.
